...We are real INDIA

About us

We have our own 2 milling plants in Punjab (India) equipped with the latest technology from Satake Japan, Carter Day USA and other multinational companies. Every stage of rice processing is closely monitored by the highly skilled technical team. Our procurement guidelines ensure only the finest crop is chosen for processing. As far as quality is concerned, it is strictly monitored during different processes from cleaning, sizing, sortex, grading to packaging. We pride ourselves and take extra effort in adhering to the strictest quality control measures. Our packaging ensures that our products reach the customers totally pristine, hygienic, dust & bacteria free.

Our Values

Our New Bharat Group Values reflect who we are and what we stand for as a company. We exhibit a strong will to win in the marketplace and in every aspect of our business.

Our Vision

Our endeavour is to build relationships that bond people and culture across the world through the common language of food and to earn the lifetime loyalty of our customers by consistently delivering high quality products.

“ EMBRACE THE GOODNESS OF AUTHENTIC QUALITY BASMATI RICE ”

Basmati Rice

Basmati rice is a variety of long-grained rice that mainly originates in the foothills of the Himalayas and is traditionally served in Indian and Middle-Eastern cuisines with a firm texture, pointy ends and a distinctive flavor. After cooking each grain elongates at least twice of its original size with a soft and fluffy texture and is absolutely non-sticky. Basmati rice is unique among other aromatic long-grain rice varieties.

One cup (200g) of cooked 1121 Basmati Rice provides the following nutrients:

Its nutty, floral aroma and soft, fluffy texture work well in many dishes. It's a particularly great choice for biryanis, pilafs, and side dishes.

Compared with other types of rice, basmati rice is lower in arsenic, and heavy metal that can harm your health.
